

ESTHER TAYLOR DESIGN

A young mum with three little girls. Esther Taylor was given the brief to create a modern sleek kitchen with classic colouring.

Esther created a grey and white high gloss kitchen with an accent colour of purple which was used for the splashback and peninsular. The worktop is caesarstone. She chose an easy to clean porcelain tile on the floor and a high gloss finish on the kitchen units, also for ease of cleaning with lots of sticky fingers around!

There was a garage adjacent to this room which was not being used so Esther knocked through an opening between the garage and soon to be kitchen.

The property is situated on a hill and therefore the floor level is 40cm lower than kitchen - by adding 2 steps, Esther was able to make this work whilst maintaining an extra high ceilings in the snug room.

She then introduced a pocket door between the 2 rooms thus giving the client the option to close the room off or have it open plan.

The basic pallet of grey and white was followed through to the snug room although warmer textures were used in this room including a grey carpet and a grey textured wallpaper

The follow on of palette links both of these rooms directly to each other creating a space where there are two rooms that can also be used individually or as one www.esthertaylor.com

ESTHER TAYLOR DESIGN

The Esther Taylor Design marble bathroom:

The brief was hotel glamour. It is fitted with beautiful solid slab of Carrara marble. It was cut down to 90cm squares on the floor and bigger panels for the walls. Great emphasis was placed on matching up the veining when setting it out. As a result, it now looks like one continuous piece. The fittings are Villeroy and Boch. The total cost of the bathroom is in the region of £28,000.

If you need further brands for the bathroom they are:

1. Bath - Victoria and Albert
2. Toilet and Bidet - Saneaux
3. Taps - Hans Grohe
4. Sinks - Villeroy and Boch
5. Cabinetry - Bespoke

